

Want in on a dirty little secret?

Indie content creators are powerless to monetize their creations.

While the entertainment industry is booming, we believe independent content creators are disconnected from their work and losing out on billions every year.

RightsLedger UNLOCKS the new creative economy

By licensing content rights directly to anyone via a worldwide independent marketplace, we enable indie creators to be paid for what they're passionate about – their content.

The PROBLEMS with digital rights today

- 1 Indie content creators lack access and knowledge to monetize their creations.
- 2 Existing rights management platforms are unaffordable with high upfront fees and monthly costs.
- 3 Creators sign away digital rights for free and have no chance of generating significant revenue until they reach millions of views.
